Strata Industry Awards for Excellence winners announced

The Institute of Strata Title Management (ISTM) has this evening announced the winners of the inaugural Schindler Lifts Strata Industry Awards for Excellence in a gala dinner attended by over 300 strata industry representatives. The awards honour high achievers in the strata industry and encourage others to also aim for excellence.

ISTM President David Ferguson said that the winners were well-deserved and are fine examples of the calibre of individuals and companies operating in the strata industry in NSW.

“Managing a strata property is a team effort. Not only is there a strata manager but also an insurer, tradespeople such as plumbers, electricians and builders, cleaners and financiers. Tonight we came together to celebrate the best in the industry and encourage others to aim for excellence,” David said.

“As the peak body representing the industry ISTM is always looking for ways to make the practice of strata management more professional and more valued by the community. By rewarding good work we achieve a recognition that is hard to gain at times and for the consumer the outcome is better service.”

Winners were:

- Large Business of the Year – CHU Strata Insurance Specialists
- Small Business of the Year – Pristine Living Management
- Excellence in Customer Service - Havencab
- Commitment to Professional Ethics – Dynamic Property Services
- Business Person of the Year – Chris Mo’ane, Integrated Consultancy Group
- Young Business Person of the Year – Matthew Carota, Integrated Consultancy Group

“Winners such as CHU have been providing insurance products and services to the strata industry for over 30 years and it was very fitting the company should be awarded Large Business of the Year. It’s also great to see small businesses such as Pristine Living Management also being recognised for their hard work,” David said.

ISTM congratulates all nominees and winners and is looking forward to the 2011 Strata Industry Awards for Excellence.
